

Lifehouse Maternity Home is a voluntary, pro-life ministry program addressing the needs of pregnant and parenting women and teens in crisis by transforming their lives through the healing touch of Christ. Lifehouse has operated in Louisville, KY since 2008. We are seeking a free-lance Grant Writer to serve in a contractor position for our 501 (c) (3) nonprofit organization.

Seeking Freelance Grant Writer Independent Contractor

- Research, identify, and pursue foundation, corporate, and faith-based grant opportunities aligned with our mission to support expectant mothers and their babies. Lifehouse does not accept government funding or grants.
- Develop compelling, high-quality grant proposals, case for support, letters of inquiry, reports, and supporting materials that effectively communicate our program impact.
- Manage the full grant cycle, including tracking deadlines, maintaining accurate records, and ensuring timely submission and reporting.
- Collaborate with Lifehouse leadership and program staff to gather data, stories, and outcomes for strong, mission-driven applications.
- Help meet or exceed our $200,000 annual grants goal (organization total budget exceeds $900,000; we secured over $200,000 in grants in 2025).

Ideal Candidate:

- Proven track record of successful grant writing for nonprofits, preferably in human services, pregnancy resource centers, or faith-based organizations.
- Strong writing, research, and project management skills with attention to detail.
- Ability to authentically represent Lifehouse's values and program impact in funding requests.
- Experience working as an independent grant-writing contractor.
- This is a contract position that is not eligible for Lifehouse benefits.
